

Laurel Ridge Builders, Inc. has tailored their company to meet and exceed the expectations of each and every one of their clients by providing exceptional service, quality craftsmanship, and unsurpassed value. In business since 1995, they offer custom home building from cottages to castles, renovations, and additions with personal attention and dedication as well as an uncompromising commitment to a superior building experience. By taking on a limited number of jobs each year, Laurel Ridge maintains the personalized attention to detail and project management efficiency that is needed to achieve success.

The President of Laurel Ridge Builders Inc., has worked hard in his 28 years as a builder to create an exceptional reputation with quality workmanship. The initial inspiration for the introduction of this business was to deliver a finished product that meets every expectation, solidifying a lifelong relationship with clients. Steve strives for perfection and demands the same from his employees, always keeping in mind what it takes to operate a successful business: to under promise and over deliver, be a leading employer, own the technology, and to be fair, responsive and honest to customers.

Laurel Ridge has gained an abundance of experience throughout the High Country including Blowing Rock, Deep Gap, Boone and a newly completed, certified green home in Banner Elk. Several of their homes are green certified, and they hope to concentrate more in this area in the future as well as utilize products made in America. Laurel Ridge is proud to be a member of the Better Business Bureau and the National Association of Home Builders.

Laurel Ridge Builders, Inc. stresses the importance of having an honest working relationship based on fairness and respect. When clients work with Laurel Ridge they are assured professional and courteous dialogue from the staff as well as a finished product that is handled with care and finished to the finest degree of artistic merit. By choosing sub-contractors with similar principles who strive to be part of a team, Laurel Ridge never neglects their most important assets: their customers, employees, subcontractors, suppliers, and the communities they help to create. Their unparalleled commitment to customer satisfaction is what binds a strong relationship with clients long after the project has been completed.
